The Challenge

During Cyclone Yasi, Townsville City Council (TCC) Customer Service Centre (CSC) had to rely on an outside call centre in Ipswich to handle customer service needs. This experience revealed the need for better control and access to customer service knowledge and improved disaster response.

They wanted to implement a knowledge management system so that representatives could provide reliable, consistent information to customers and improve service delivery. They wanted a centralised information source that was both user-friendly and accurate.

The Objective

TCC also wanted accomplish the following with their new solution:

- Increase first-call resolution.
- Lower CSC operating costs.
- Reduce average handling time.
- Eliminate re-work caused by errors.
- Lower staff turnover rates.
- Provide a platform for performance improvement.
- Reduce risk and increase compliance.
- Manage auditing and monitor key performance indicators.
- Enable real-time handling of issues with business impact.

TCC chose livepro because of its proven ability to equip high-volume, process-driven organisations. livepro also helped to centralise processes and information for staff while enabling easy maintenance with limited IT involvement.
